

Ron and Kathy Assaf College of Nursing- Miami

Mariana Povea, MSN-ED, BSN, RN

Mariana received Bachelors in Science in Education from the Central University of Quito, Ecuador in 1984. She graduated with honors from the School of Nursing in St. Petersburg Junior College School of Nursing where she earned an Associate in Science in nursing degree in December of 2000. Mariana served as Registered Nurse in prestigious healthcare organizations including Hellen Ellis Memorial Hospital, Morton Plant-Bay Care, and Baptist Health of South Florida. Her areas of expertise as a Registered Nurse include surgical, general medical units, and step down respiratory units. Mariana graduated from the University of Phoenix with a Master's of Science in Nursing and Health Education in January of 2013. Her teaching experience in nursing began in Nova Southeastern University Miami campus as an Adjunct faculty in May of 2013. Mariana joined the Baptist Scholars department as a faculty member in 2015. She is a member of the Infusion Nurse Association Miami Chapter.