Camille Baldwin MSN, RN, CNE

Assistant Professor Baldwin received his/her undergraduate degree from West Texas A&M University and his/her MSN from the Florida Atlantic University.

I have been a Registered Nurse for 16 years with experience in both adult and pediatric critical care health settings since graduating with a specialty in cardiovascular and neurovascular surgical areas. I have been teaching nursing since 2004 and started teaching at Nova Southeastern University July 2009.

Currently, I am enrolled in Doctorate of Education Program with concentration in Health Care Education and minor in Adult Education at Nova Southeastern University with dissertation focus on developing critical thinking skills in beginning nursing students. I have also worked on research regarding pediatric pain modalities.
